OLYMPIA CORRESPONDENCE.

OLYMPIA, Dec. 18th, 1867.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

Since my last the Legislature has been mostly engaged on the subjects mentioned. No bill of general interest has been brought forward except one to reapportion representation in the House. For several years it has been evident that the seat of empire in the Territory was departing from the "Sound country" to the Columbia valley and the country east of the Cascades. But under an old apportionment law the majority of the Legislature has been elected by a minority of the voters. By simply refusing to make a new law that minority has retained a power not rightfully belonging to it. The new law, introduced into the Council by Hon. H. G. Struve, of Clark county, is designed to remedy that wrong, and by simply complying with the provisions of the organic act, do justice to all. It is probable that a sufficient number of just men will be found in the Legislature, regardless of party, to carry the act through both houses.

In the Council the contested election case of McLane vs. Longmire has absorbed all other topics. The very lengthy speeches of the attorneys of the parties—Garfield for McLane, and McFadden for Longmire—were able and exhaustive on their several sides. It is expected that a vote will be reached to-morrow, and as it will decide the political complexion of the Council, it is looked for with much interest.

The storm is now the staple of conversation. The like of it has hardly been known on the Sound. Nisqually, Puyallup, White river, and Chehalis have all overspread their valleys, sweeping away bridges and a few houses, and doing an immense amount of damage. But all the rivers don't fill up the little pond that ebbs and flows daily four feet below the level on which I write. It is not full. Still it is distressing to think of the amount of suffering caused by the floods along the streams. Staging is interrupted, and the mails come to us now but uncertainly, and in a very damaged condition. The waters all along the Sound have been much higher than during the great flood of 1861, and if the storm extended over the entire country as here, we apprehend even greater damage.

CHIEL.

OLYMPIA, Dec. 22d, 1867.

News of disaster to the farming interests of this portion of the Territory by the flood of last week, continue to arrive. All the streams were several feet above any hight known before by any of the settlers. The peculiar character of the valleys of the streams here render them partially liable to damage. They are mostly from one to two miles in width and margined by high bluffs, so that the waters cannot spread over a very broad country. Most of the valleys suffered severely, though no lives have been lost.

As yet, but little has been completed in the way of legislation. In the Council, in the contested election case, a resolution was finally adopted declaring the seat vacant, and the Governor has issued his proclamation ... a special election for the sixth of January. So the candidates are stripping themselves for a new race. It is useless to speculate concerning the result.

In the House, yesterday, Mr. Henry of Thurston, the leading Democrat of the House, introduced a resolution declaring the seat occupied by Mr. Davis of Lewis county, vacant. The ground upon which he pleaded the passage of the resolution was, that while Mr. Davis held the certificate, Mr. Miles, the same Miles so celebrated in the history of pure politics in this Territory—really had a majority of the votes cast, and was only thrown out by an informality. The mover of the resolution and his friends claim a very violent honesty of purpose and action on the part of the Democratic party in relation to such questions. This is evidently one of Mr. Henry's cool jokes, for who don't know that party is the only watchword of the democracy. They may ... to be all fair, they will protest they are fair, they will say that they are going to vote for what they think right, regardless of party, and then they vote in a solid chunk. Their leaders have learned the sage advice of the old dog, which took under his tuition a younger dog, as he was about to attend a great dog Convention:

"Fowler, beware of demagogues,
Steer clear of the minority;
Be sure to smell of other dogs,
But vote with the majority."

The only trouble with them here is that it is hard for them to sit on the minority side. That side ventilated their logic and oratory to their entire satisfaction, to which the majority side replied as they desired, and then the resolution was lost—Mr. Davis retaining his seat.

Without completing any business of a general character, except the passage of two or three memorials to Congress, the Legislature has resolved to adjourn to-morrow, until the third day of January.

By the way of addenda, I may say that a very spicy debate was heard yesterday in the Council, on a resolution requesting Judge C. Ben. Darwin to codify the laws of the Territory. It was strongly opposed on the ground of the Judge's connection with the recent Port Townsend scandal. C. Ben's character was most unmercifully handled, and the effort to procure for him an indirect Legislative endorsement failed. An effort to insinuate his name into a course of lectures, under the auspices of the Good Templars at this place, made a few days before, had already failed, and thus a public brand is placed upon him. If he has invaded domestic peace, it is right that he should be thus branded. If not—and he ought to be able to show it if all these statements are untrue—his punishment is cruel.

CHIEL.

ANECDOTE OF THE ELDER BEECHER.—"My father," said Henry Ward "loved to write at the top of the house and I loved to get there to watch him. He had a way of whispering to himself as he wrote, and while he wrote with one hand he rubbed his breast with the other. He could not bear to be buttoned into anything while writing, and wristbands and collar and vest were all sure to be pulled open as soon as he set to work. His coat was laid aside, and his suspenders thrown off his shoulders. He was a great lover of clams; and on one day as he was rapidly driving his pen a clam man passed the house, crying, 'Clams, clams!' My father was so intent upon his sermon that it was several minutes before he realized what the sound was. Then he rushed to the window and hailed the man who had passed beyond the reach of his voice. Clapping his pen behind his ear, father dashed down stairs like an avalanche, and, before any or all the women who were wont to lie in wait to catch him and put him in order could arrest him, he was in full chase down the street, holding on to his pantaloons with one hand, and waving the other in the air shouting, 'Clams, clams, clams!' He caught the man, secured his clams, and returned slowly, buttoning up as he went, to the house and to his study."

HANCOCK FOR THE PRESIDENCY. — General Hancock seems to be driving ahead of all competitors for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency next year. To be sure he was one of Lincoln's hirelings, and did good service in the cruel war upon our Southern brethren, but then, even this may be pardoned by the more moderate Democrats for the sake of expediency, and his course in New Orleans seems to be well calculated to make his peace with the party. The President's Message, asking Congress to commend Hancock for his promptness in undoing all that Sheridan had accomplished, if it is ever sent in, will have the effect of placing him prominently forward, though how it will affect his nomination remains to be seen. To have to take such an unequivocal "War Democrat," will be a bitter pill to the most numerous and active wing of the Democracy, and if their prospects improve, there is little doubt that they will insist upon the nomination of such a man as Pendleton, or Vallandigham; but, with their present gloomy outlook, Hancock's chances seem to be the best—that is, supposing that he has sunk so low as to be willing to take a nomination from the party whose aiding and abetting of rebellion cost the lives of so many of his comrades.—S. F. Times.

"Mrs. Dobson, where's your husband?" He's dying, marm, and I don't wish anybody to disturb him." A very considerate woman that.

FROM IDAHO.

The Boise Statesman of 17th inst. has the following:

Hill Beachy, arriving last night on the stage from Silver, furnishes us the following interesting Indian item: A party of scouts from Camp Lyon last Saturday found a camp of about twenty Indians on the Owyhee. The soldiers immediately attacked the Indians, killing five and taking five or six prisoners. Among the latter were three squaws, one of whom it is said wore the stockings of Mrs. Denoille. One of the horses that were hitched to the ambulance in which Mrs. Denoille and her husband were riding, was also captured at or near the Indian camp. The captured squaws were taken to Camp Lyon, and a messenger sent for McCandless, the interpreter, to see if the precise fate of Mrs. Denoille cannot be ascertained. McCandless was over on Catharine creek and it would take two days for him to reach Camp Lyon. Nothing can be learned till he arrives. It is understood there were two bucks among the captives; if so, let rope be administered to them until they will "talk," and then hang them for good.

The following is from the Democrat:

We yesterday had the privilege of examining a map drawn by Mr. Thompson, of the Surveyor-General's Office, in this city. It shows the line of the projected branch railroad connecting Idaho and Oregon with the Central Pacific near Salt Lake. According to this map, the road would come down Rock Creek, ... of Raft River, at the mouth of which creek Snake river can be easily crossed to the north side, and the track laid along its level plain to this place and Umatilla. There are positively no serious obstacles to overcome. With the exception of two or three small water courses and creeks, the work of constructing such a railway could be almost as expeditiously done as through the low lands of Illinois. Certainly the natural advantages of this route are equal to those offered by the valleys of the Platte and Humboldt rivers. The practicability of this route as shown by this no doubt accurate map, is a great point to be urged in the petition ... Congress to grant us this right of railway.

The Statesman of the 19th publishes the annexed items:

We learn from Mr. G. W. Hunt, who resides and keeps a ferry on Payette river, that Nathan Phillips and another man whose name he did not learn, were drowned in Payette river above his ferry on Monday last. The circumstances are as follows: Mr. P. is an extensive freighter, owning a large number of oxen, teams, and usually travelling in advance of his train in a light spring wagon. He unfortunately drove into the Payette at a ford, not knowing that the stream had swollen ... when his team, himself and companion, were carried down stream and drowned. Mr. P.'s body had been recovered when Mr. Hunt left for Boise City; the body of the other man had not been found. Mr. Phillips is the same man who removed the quartz mill from ... to Granite Creek in Boise county for Mr. ....

We have here a pretty good Indian ... Last Sunday night the Indians in lower Boise ... missed some twelve or fifteen head of cattle. Following the trail the next day it led across Snake river, and they overtook their stock in company with two Indians and ... They brought back the cattle and the Indians' hair. That's the way to do it. If the farmers down the valley had been ... prompt in pursuing the Indians, they ... have lost ... during the last year.

No "Butcher" Need Apply.

[From the N. Y. ....]

While quite a number of the ... of Democratic journals ... about for an "available candidate" for the Presidency, we observe that the more influential of the northern organs ... out manfully in favor of a "principle candidate." The ... are in a most distressing strait for a General to run against Grant; but the Day Book, the La Crosse Democrat, with its 100,000 circulation, the Examiner, and other papers of that class, lift up their voices against any General who fought on the Federal side, declaring, in express terms, "No butcher need apply." Says that bright and shining light of the Northern Democracy, Brick Pomeroy: "We wish a plain, true, outspoken candidate who is not afraid to be a Democrat! We would not support Grant, or such a one, for all the gold or position the nation could give us. ... We will not support any of the ... who won fame in Lincoln's war for the destruction of the Union." The Day Book ...: "For us, for the radical, straightout Democracy, the path is clear and the road, straight. It is, down with Mongrelism, with every ... of niggerism, and restoration of the White Republic of 1850, which we will have either through the ballot-box or through blood if it must be." The Examiner is, if possible, still more explicit in its repudiation of any "Federal butcher" as a candidate. It says:

"The next Presidential ... must ... be one of principle. It must not only be one of principle, but the Democratic party must put up a man—a man whose political antecedents are well known—who has not given ... 'illicit ...' with the enemy—whose claims are not predicated upon his success in the butchery of his countrymen.' It is rather curious to note that it is the Northern Democratic organs that are loudest in their protestations against a 'Butcher' for a candidate. The Louisville Courier, the leading organ of the Kentucky Democracy, is for Sherman, and it tells the Northern papers that are so over-zealous, that in the Southern States no good Democrat sympathises with their violence, adding: 'Not even along the desolated route of Sherman's march to the sea' can the people be ... to appreciate the Democracy, humanity, or patriotism, that could influence an editor in the Northwest to consign the country to Radical and negro dominion rather than elect 'Sherman as the Democratic nominee.'" So much more sensitive to the wrongs of the South than the Southerners themselves, are their Northern friends, and so much more anxious to revive the issues of the war, and to fight over again the battles of treason. The Examiner is, undoubtedly, both consistent and sincere in its fervent protest against a "butcher candidate." But there is reason to believe that in other quarters the objection results from despair of being able to find an eligible "butcher" who will stand on a Democratic platform. If Grant had been ready to play "Barkis," we think the Democracy would have gladly met him half way.

"GOVERNOR GENERAL" BROWN.—We have already on two or three occasions published documents showing that the "journeyman editor" while in California was at the head of the treasonable secret societies that existed in that State. The Unionist of this week has the following in relation to the same matter:

It should be known in Oregon that Beriah Brown was "Governor General" of the Knights of the Golden Circle in California, in 1864. His number was "57." A party of the vagabonds went down to Santa Clara in June of that year, camped in the mountains and attempted to raise an insurrectionary army. They quarrelled among themselves, separated, and some of them robbed the stage and murdered a passenger, for which several were arrested and sent to the State prison.

In the fall, one of them turned State's evidence, stole their books and papers and brought them to the Flag office, where all their signs and passwords were published. Beriah's name was among the officers, and, though editing the Democratic Press, he did not deny but rather confessed the authenticity of the documents. Next spring, when his treason mill was cleaned out, letters were found corroborating the foregoing facts, were left in our possession and some of them published.

Now, ain't Brown a pretty duck to talk about the personal character of any one? If it hadn't been for his well known cowardice, it is probable that he would have been abroad with the rest of his gang, and perhaps now in the penitentiary.

The Norway rat has completely extirpated the native rat in New Zealand. The English house fly is also extirpating the native blue bottle, and settlers carry the English house fly in small boxes to their settlements, to destroy the native fly. The English weeds crush out of existence the hardiest indigenous plants in that colony. The white clover from England is extirpating the New Zealand flax plant, and English annuals destroy New Zealand perennials. The pigs which Capt. Cook landed in New Zealand, have so multiplied that landlords offer rewards for killing them.

True Conservatism.

The Conservative papers do not know what to make of the Alabama Convention. Having predicted a horrible manifestation of ignorance, passion, cruelty and intolerance in its proceedings, some of the Conservatives are now inclined to face it out, and trusting to the ignorance of their readers, to declare that the convention was as disgraceful and violent as they said it would be. Others, with less confidence in human gullibility, like the Chicago Times, frankly admit that the proceedings were characterized by moderation and good sense, but claim the result as a victory of "the Girondist party in Alabama" over "the Jacobin party," and rejoice that Radicalism has been "driven out into the cold." Grant it, and what then? It follows that negro suffrage and Republican victories end in a triumph of moderation and good sense. Nine-tenths of the members are Republicans, and were elected by negro votes. If the Gironde triumph in such a convention, negro suffrage must mean something else than Jacobinism. Interpret how they will, this convention staggers the sooth-sayers. If they call it a Jacobin convention, then the people, looking at the constitution framed, which is as liberal, wise and well adapted as that of any Northern State, will discover that Jacobinism is not so very horrible a thing after all. If they say that Jacobinism was beaten, it follows that negro ... tested by its results, is preferable to white suffrage, for the States of the North, ... to these same papers, have been voting for the most frightful Jacobinism.

The plain truth is that the Republican party, North and South, does not entertain the ... and feelings which its antagonists ascribe to it. Revenge does not dictate its policy ..., does not shape its course. It aims to ... the safety of the country, but beyond the measures ... for that end, it inflicts no penalty upon a conquered foe. Beware the Democrats will not admit this fact, and persist in pretending that the Republican party is governed by a narrow, proscriptive and vindictive spirit, they are unable to account for so strange a ... as the Alabama convention, and, in trying, get into a ridiculous mess of self-contradictions. Face the fact, gentlemen! Confess that the Republican ... tested by what it has done, and not by ... you said it would do, ... your ... your censure!

It is true, Republicans differ in their ... of the degree of severity necessary to ... the public safety. Mr. Stevens believes that ... confiscation is necessary to break up the power of land-holding rebels. The ... men from employment both in ... and Virginia, because they would not vote Conservative tickets, proves that Mr. Stevens' opinion is not altogether without facts to prop it. But the Republican party has never yet adopted it, and, ... the rebels should persist in ... long as to ... the public safety, it is not likely to adopt it. So of disfranchisement; it is said that the Republicans wish to exclude ... suffrage the great body of rebels. They have had absolute power to do it if they ... But the ... of Congress ... only in one State. In Tennessee and Missouri, where ... prejudice prevented the admission of loyal ..., it was ... necessary in order to secure loyal government ... a ... number; perhaps ... thousand have been excluded in this State. Yet, everyone knows that this exclusion was not intended to be ... the ... to behave ... will not ..., and that a larger ... of the Radicals are even now ready to ... all restrictions ... to the ballot ... and so do ... If we ... violent sayings of "Brick" Pomeroy, as the ... of the Democratic party, we are told that we do it injustice. Is it not ... unjust ... to charge upon the Republican ... which its formal ... that it does not ...

... it is unjust or not, it is ... the ... are ... that the ... and patches; that ... is the only true Conservatism; that ... does not bring with it all the ... that have ... predicted; that ... has been safely and ... the acts of Congress. It will not need ... conventions as that of Alabama to ... the Northern people that the Republican ... is both wise and moderate, and that the ... have been ... the ... reconstruction ...

Conclusive Testimony

Democratic journals have been laboring hard to distort the testimony of Gen Grant upon the subject of reconstruction so as to make it appear that Mr Johnson has followed scrupulously in the course decided on by President Lincoln The best possible way to settle this point is to observe just what Gen Grant says in his testimony on the subject Some weeks ago a meagre account of this testimony was telegraphed to us, and so very meagre was it that it failed to give anything like a fair statement of what Gen Grant did say Those Democratic editors who have been laying so much stress on the assertion that his testimony proves the perfect identity of Lincoln's and Johnson's plans, would do well to read the following and, if they aim to give their readers correct political information, to publish it

Q Were you present when this North Carolina proclamation was read in Cabinet?

A I would not be certain, but am of the opinion that the first time I heard it read was in the presence of the President and Secretary of War only

Q Did you assent to that plan?

A. I did not dissent from it, it was a civil matter, and although I was anxious to have some thing done, I did not intend to dictate a plan, I do not think I expressed any opinion about it at the time, I looked upon it as simply a temporary measure until Congress should meet and settle the whole question, and that it did not make much difference how it was done, so that there was a form of government there, I think I was present at the time by an invitation of either the President or the Secretary of War, I suppose I was free to express my views, I suppose the object was that I should express my views, if I could suggest any change, I do not think I was asked my views, I know that if I had been asked the question, I would have assented to that or almost anything else that would have given stable Government there, in reference to the opinion I gave the President on the Amnesty Proclamation, I think I have testified pretty fully, I told the President that I disagreed with him on the clauses excluding volunteer Generals, and as to the $20,000 clause; I do not say anything as to the rest of it, whether it was too lenient or too stringent [illegible] state what I thought about it, but not what I said about it, I know that immediately after the close of the rebellion there was a very fine [illegible] manifested in the South, and I thought we ought to take advantage of it as soon as possible, but since that time there has been an evident change there. I may have expressed my views to the President. I do not recollect particularly. I do not [illegible] that there were any persons engaged in that consultation who thought of what was being done at that time as lasting any longer than until Congress would meet and either ratify that or establish some other form of government I know it never crossed my mind that what was being done was anything more than temporary. I understood this to be the view of the President and of every body else.

Q. You understood that Mr. Lincoln's plan was [illegible], to be either confirmed or a new Government set up by Congress?

A. Yes, and I understood Johnson's to be so too, that was my impression, I never heard the President say the plan was to be temporary, but I was satisfied [illegible] looked upon it as simply temporary until Congress met.

Is more definite testimony than this required? Gen. Grant says that he understood the Johnson plan to be merely temporary, and that the final settlement of the whole matter rested with [illegible]. He says that Mr. Lincoln's plan was [illegible] in the view that Congress could either [illegible] a new policy, and that what [illegible] might be done was to last only till Congress [illegible]. In other words, it belonged to that body to control the whole subject, and Gen [illegible] imagined that any plan could be permanent which did not have C[illegible] approval [illegible] it was the province of Congress [illegible] what [illegible] had done, or establish [illegible] form of government," as it [illegible] and that he [illegible] views, at that time, to be [illegible] of the President and of [illegible]. By comparing this with what [illegible] to do, nothing can be [illegible] than for [illegible] to see the [illegible] which have attended the [illegible] Johnson claims [illegible] that Congress had nothing to do with the [illegible] that the whole work of [illegible] was in his hands. These [illegible] and we [illegible] now [illegible] Gen. Grant's [illegible] so explicit that it is not [illegible] stand them.

The A[illegible] of the War again.

The [illegible] of the H[illegible] have [illegible] of A. Johnson [illegible] J. S. Black, Buchanan's [illegible] who before his master [illegible] an official opinion, written in 1860, that the [illegible] had no right to take measures to prevent [illegible] was kept about the White House for the purpose of grinding out for [illegible] and [illegible] Executive documents [illegible]; and when the Committee plumped [illegible] at him requiring him to state whether or not the veto message of the reconstruction bill, or any part of it, was prepared by him, he replied [illegible] evasion, that "some of its [illegible] put in [illegible] by him, but only a [illegible] by the President, that the beginning of that veto [illegible] was used by the President out of matter which he had furnished, that the next paragraph was spliced up in the same way, [illegible] though not for [illegible] of expression, being used by the President, that the President had requested him to finish the argument, and that what he wrote was substantially adopted, that he did [illegible] his services, and that what he did was done at the [illegible] solicitation of Mr. Johnson." Here, then, is the origin of those [illegible] papers which have issued in such [illegible] from the Executive office for the last two years. Johnson's messages are written by a man who is not less a traitor to his country than the other members of Buchanan's Cabinet who plotted the destruction of the Government; his course is advised and prompted by one who made use of a high official position a few years ago to encourage traitors, to paralyse the country and to deliver it over, bound and helpless, into the hands of the Southern conspirators. There is no wonder that the tone of Johnson's [illegible] is so [illegible] to rebels, [illegible] is no wonder that they so utterly stultify and condemn his own former course. If the next Administration [illegible] by any chance, happen to be of the [illegible] no doubt Jerry Black will be ready to prepare an opinion arguing that A Johnson [illegible] to be tried and hanged for his re[illegible] "violations of the Constitution" from 1860 to 1866.

O'Meara of the Idaho World, an individual who is too well known in Oregon to make it necessary for anybody here to give his description and pedigree, sets himself up as a representative and champion of the Irish race, and tries to make it appear that the dirty falsehoods he coins or repeats are uttered in behalf of and with the approval of Irishmen Of course he re-echoes the lie that was started by the disreputable "journeyman editor" of the Herald, that the Oregonian declared the negroes of the South, although grossly ignorant, more intelligent and better qualified to make worthy citizens than naturalized Irishmen Now in pronouncing the statement that we said such a thing as this entirely false we here take occasion to modify our former remark so that it may have distinct application to the editor of the World, as he seems to desire that this application be made. We readily concede, since he insists on it so strongly, that there is not a negro, North or South, who would not make quite as good a citizen as himself, and quite as good as the "journeyman editor," whose falsehood the afer said O'Meara takes so much trouble to repeat.

The Lewiston Journal of the 21st inst contains the following news from "Warren's Camp"

The Williams & Maxwell mill has made a clean up from ten tons of the rock from the Winfield Scott lode they saved over three thousand dollars in gold—some lost Three bars were received by Godfried Gamble, weighing 80 ounces by "Hunt & Hart's Express, and can be seen at the California Brewery The bars are unassayed, but will yield over twelve dollars to the ounce

RUSHVILLE, WARREN'S CAMP, December, 14, 1867

DEAR JOURNAL As the express does not leave till to-morrow, it may not be amiss that your readers should be informed of the fact, that the Hic Jacet Mill Co fired up and started their steam engine to night, using 5 lbs of steam, and ran it up to 30 lbs The machinery moved readily steadily and with a rapid motion Their boiler, though made here in the mountains, and without the tools and appliances such as are generally employed by boiler makers, proves to be a more thorough piece of workmanship than is usually found coming direct from the boiler shops

Thus may be seen that this company has accomplished in seven short weeks up here in the mountains, in the winter months what some of their good friends in Lewiston predicted of them would require till the month of June next Surely there must be among them some ability for other things than "washing dishes" as some of your wiseacres declared they were only "fitted for"

Yours, LELAND

P S. Our furious snow storm last night turned to rain, and rain has fallen much during the day, and still falls

WARREN'S CAMP, Dec 16, 1867

We are going to astonish the coast yet, in gold and silver. You will learn the result of the Williams & Maxwell mill by this express I think they saved about three-quarters of the metal We will be ready to run our (Hic Jacet) mill about the first of January next. We had steam up yesterday, everything worked well, we turned the engine with five pounds of steam I am well satisfied with the prospects in this camp I will write to you whenever we commence running the mill Yours, R HURLEY.

MURDER.

At Slate Creek, Idaho county, about one or two o'clock A. M on the 15th instant, Patrick Shannessy was killed by H. J Gale by stabbing with a knife. Shannessy lived about 10 hours after being wounded The quarrel was over a game of cards. Both were duly sober, Gale was arrested by J H Alvord, U. S Marshal, at John Days' Creek, and brought to Slate Creek and turned over to Constable Shellenberger His examination had not taken place when our informant left Mr. Alvord sent a messenger for a Justice of the Peace, the only one in the county and word to the Sheriff who was at Warren's Diggings. This part of Idaho county is now nearly deserted by its officials. The Constable to whom Gale was turned over was the only one known to be thereabouts From reports the case is a bad one. Mr Shannessy has an uncle in Detroit, Michigan

PROGRESS OF RECONSTRUCTION —The Washington Chronicle publishes extracts from private letters received from well-informed Unionists in the States of Virginia, North Carolina, Mississippi, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama, showing that reconstruction on the Congressional basis is practically assured in all those States, but they all express apprehension of the most desperate attempts of rebels to defeat the ratification of the several Constitutions on their final submission to the people. The Chronicle appends to the extracts this note of warning "The loyal people of the North and West, and their representatives in Congress, should understand the exact situation, and be prepared to assist their friends in this sublime struggle But for the presence of the military and the fact that General Grant and the heads of the departments in the South sympathize with Congress, and are determined to stand by reconstruction, Union men would be shot down in cold blood on the ratification days."

The Pioneer Oil Mill of Salem, as we learn by the Record, made its first oil on Monday last. The seed is crushed by iron rollers; then is ground or mulled, by large stone mullers, which are seven feet in diameter and about sixteen inches thick, weighing 6,500 pounds. They tread around in a circle on a [illegible] bed, mashing the meal still finer. The meal is heated by steam from a boiler outside; then put into bags and pressed—oil being used in the press instead of water. The oil is then forced out of the meal, and the oil cake is left, which is also very valuable This is again ground up into meal for feed The company has about 10,600 bushels of seed to manufacture, and have engaged for another season's supply of larger amount

A Democratic jubilee will be held at Salem on the 8th of January, the anniversary of Jackson's great victory at New Orleans. In order that the Copperheads assembled on the occasion may have a taste of genuine Jacksonian Democracy, we suggest that they hire somebody to read to them Old Hickory's famous proclamation to the rebels of South Carolina, threatening to lick them like blazes if they didn't stop their nonsense and quit talking about secession We should like to have the Salem jubilators informed that Gen Jackson held it quite constitutional to "coerce a State," though the Copperheads from 1860 to 1865, held quite otherwise, and acted on quite another principle

Amid all the outcries made about General Grant's reticence in regard to his political sentiments on the questions of the day, the New York Day Book comes out and assumes the privilege of defining the General's position. It says

"We notice that some of our Democratic exchanges continue to quote the foolish and lying telegram that "Grant says he will not accept the nomination from the Mongrels for President." Any man who thinks that Grant is not in perfect accord with Congress is green enough to be eaten up for grass.

We commend this to some of our Democratic exchanges in Oregon.

Gen. Schofield says that the stories of a contemplated general outbreak among the negroes of Virginia are without the least foundation On the contrary, he believes them to be as peaceably disposed throughout Virginia as at any time since the close of the war

The Idaho World says there would be no Senator Sumner if there were no negro Which remark the Statesman "counters" in this wise "Will the World tell how large the Democratic party would be if there were no rebels?"

A distinguished officer of the Government says that since the elections the planters have been counting up their old slaves, fully imbued with the idea that the next Congress will decree compensation!

I herewith issue my Annual PROCLAMATION!!!

I've come, my dear people, among you once more,
Keeping up the good custom established of yore
I bid you all welcome I wish you good cheer—
A right Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!
You will find me this year, as you have heretofore,
At McCormick's on Front street the Franklin Book Store
Where I've opened my Budget twas filled to the brim
With every nice Toy that could talk, walk or swim
I ve Musical Work Boxes—and Guitars for the fair
And Gifts for the Gents that are both rich and rare,
Whilst my Budget includes the nicest new Toys
Intended as Gifts to good Girls and Boys!
I ve the Ark in which Grandfather Noah was kept
When all other creatures from the world were swept,
(For men in those days would in evil persist,
So the world was washed by an Oregon mist!)
I ve Babies of Rubber of wax and of leather,
(They were all made to order), and well put together
I've Vases and Cups nicely gilded outside,
And little Cock Horses for Bobbies to ride,
I ve Cannon and Pistols which cannot explode,
For the reason they hold neither wadding or load
I've steamboats that run—you just wind them in front
And they ll beat the Cascade or the Wilson G Hunt.
I've a new Locomotive—It can never explode,
'Twas built for the use of Gaston's Railroad,
I've Engines that play—Set them down on the floor
And they ll throw greater streams than old 'F or new '4.'
I've Furniture, Puddles and French Pusiliers
Soldiers that look like B B Pioneers
I've Sa[illegible] made of tin—Guns and Pistols as well,
And the new kind of Drum that rings like a bell
I've M[illegible] of all sizes I've Grace Hoops, galore,
And you ll find at McCORMICK'S a thousand Toys more,
On FRONT STREET the Store is—105,
Where TOYS are as plenty as bees in a hive;
Go there and buy them—this is my request,
His Prices are Low and his Stock is the Best.

HOUSING OF NO. 4's STEAM FIRE ENGINE.—Christmas was a great day among the firemen of this city, rendered so by the ceremonies connected with the housing of Protection Engine Co's new Steam Fire Engine. At about 11 o'clock A. M. the members of Protection Co., in procession, headed by the Vancouver Military Band, marched down to the house of Multnomah Co. No. 2, for the purpose of escorting that company as their guests, to No. 4's house. Arrived at No. 4's house with the Multnomah's Steam Engine, the procession was formed in the following order: 1st, the band; 2d, Multnomah Engine Co., (with A...ations from Vancouver) drawing their engine; and 3d, Protection Engine Co., drawing their engine. Being formed, the procession started down First street, the bell of No. 4 ringing a merry peal, and moved through several streets calling in succession at the other several engine house, and receiving delegations from each. The bells of each engine house were set to ringing as the procession approached and departed. After visiting all the engine houses, the procession ...d at the corner of Washington and First street and the two engines were put at work, taking water from the cistern and hydrant. This trial excited a great interest ... the spectators who had gathered about to the number of ... and or more, and who remained through the whole ... notwithstanding the weather was most disagreeably wet and cold. The engines standing one on each side the cistern, No. 4 threw water toward Alder ... and No. 2 toward Stark. No. 4 started off with two hose pipes, with a 1¼ inch nozzle and an inch nozzle. Throughout the trial, not a contest for superiority—both engines threw two streams most of the time; but each varied the exercise by each throwing through one hose. This being the first really public performance of No. 4's engine, it attracted, of course, the greatest degree of curiosity, and ... of people gathered around it, to examine its ... mechanism and witness its performance. The streams were thrown horizontally and then perpendicularly, both performances eliciting frequent and hearty applause. The volume of water thrown was so great as to astonish those who had never before ... a steam engine work. It is sufficient to say that the members of No. 4, were more than satisfied with the performance of their engine. The long continued and great streams of water thrown, the great height ... by the solid volumes, and the floods of water ... came down the gutters, were all practical arguments in favor of engines worked by their steam, and it is needless to say that the advocates of a steam fire department were delighted by the strength of the argument. ... to say which of the engines did the better work, and we do not attempt to ... No. 4's engine is a later make than that of No. 2, and has some improvements ... None of the older ... have. She is a beautiful piece of machinery whether considered in detail or as a whole. She sailed Dec. 6th; arrived off Columbia bar, 9th; stood off and on 12 days in consequence of a rough bar and unfavorable winds; crossed the bar Dec. 21st and arrived at Portland in tow by the ... Dec. 25th. The Brewster was built at Cowden, ..., and has been employed in the trade between San Francisco and Japan. Her tonnage is registered at 350 tons, but she can carry of wheat or flour over 500 tons. She rates as A 1½ good. She is owned by Corno & Simpson. On the passage up which was an unusually short one, she experienced rough weather, lost one of her boats, and had her bulwarks stove in by a sea. The weather continued heavy during the whole time she was off the bar, and the Captain had occasion several times to recall to mind the manner in which the steamship company, the pilots and the ... of Portland ... the ... of two years ago to establish a tug ... on the bar service at the mouth of the Columbia. The fact that, for want of a tug, a vessel which ... the time to the bar in three days cannot reach Astoria under fifteen days, is well calculated to ... this class of tonnage and drive it into other routes.

A BEAUTIFUL PIECE OF FURNITURE. Some time ago we mentioned the fact that Protection Engine Co. No. 4, had ...ted Multnomah Engine Co. No. 2, a beautiful Fire ... At the ball, Wednesday evening this present was on exhibition, enclosed in a very handsome case with a glass door, ordered by Multnomah Co. and manufactured by Mr. Wilcox. The front contains in raised gilt letters, the words, "From Protection, 4, to Multnomah, 2." In the right and left margins are scrolls on which are inscribed the names of the President, Secretary, Treasurer, Foreman, 1st and 2d Assistants and members of the company making the presentation. The case and Fire Front, together, make a very handsome piece of furniture for an Engine house.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT NONPAREIL LODGE.—The Good Templars of Nonpareil Lodge No. 86, in the 3d Ward, had a Christmas tree festival at their hall, Christmas eve. It is said the occasion was a very happy one, the tree being ... to be loaded with many valuable presents. The ... of Nonpareil Lodge did not join with the others of the city, on account of the distance from the 3d Ward to the hall on Alder street; but they had a pleasant Christmas eve, notwithstanding, on their own account.

MAN DROWNED.—Capt. Turnbull informs us that about 11 o'clock Tuesday night a man was seen struggling in the water just below his dock, that he sank ... immediately and was not seen again. It is supposed that he fell off the dock. Up to yesterday morning his body had not been found, nor could anybody tell who he was or how he came to fall overboard The affair has mystery enough about it to make considerable sensation.

MEETING OF THE TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.—The Multnomah Co. Teacher's Institute met at the Central School building at 10 o'clock yesterday. The Institute having been called to order by the President, proceeded to discuss the following topics: 1st, Reading; 2d, Orthography; 3d, Grammar. The Institute will meet again at 9 o'clock this morning, at which time the discussion on the subject of Grammar will be renewed.

PRODUCE.—Arrived per steamer Alert and Senator, Wednesday, Dec. 25th, 224 boxes apples, 2,501 qr sks flour, 5 boxes eggs, 16 hogs, 28 cases pork. Yesterday the Alert brought down 236 boxes apples, 82 hlf bbls dried apples, 110 qr sks flour, 180 bags wheat, 112 gunnies bacon, 13 boxes eggs, 46 boxes miscellaneous produce, 7 bales woolen goods, 29 bags oats and 3 sks fruit.

I. O. O. F.—At a regular meeting of Samaritan Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., held at the hall, Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected to serve the ensuing term: W. H. Andrus, N. G.; C. A. Dolph, V. G.; J. N. Dolph, R. S.; Isaac Barman, Treasurer; Messrs. John A. Lyon, H. C. Coulson and E. St. John, Trustees.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—This concert for the benefit of the Portland Library which was announced to come off on to-morrow evening, has been postponed until Friday evening, January 10th, 1868. The press of holiday amusements, and want of time for preparation are the reasons of the delay.

EXTRA TRIP.—We are informed that the steamer Okanogan will arrive from Monticello to-day, several hours earlier than usual, and will start at 3 P. M., on an extra trip to St. Helens, for the accommodation of parties desiring to attend the Masonic ball at that place this evening.

PATENT RECEIVED.—Dr. G. W. Cool last evening received his patent for the manufacture and use of his improved vulcanite dental plates, of which we made mention some time ago. The Dr. was, of course, in a very pleasant state of mind in consequence of his good fortune.

THE SENATOR.—This steamer, after a long retirement from service, reappeared at the P. T. Co.'s wharf, on Wednesday afternoon with a load of produce for the ocean steamer. She has been thoroughly refitted and painted, and now looks as gay as a peacock.

NO MAILS.—The telegram from Yreka, received late last evening, will sufficiently explain the non appearance of news, for the last several days. The operator informs us that no mails have been received at Yreka from Sacramento or Lincoln for seven days.

WILL BE SOON READY.—Mr. Kennard, the mate of the steamer Fideliter states that it is hoped to get the repairs on the steamer completed so that she can be loaded and ready to sail Saturday evening or Sunday.

POSTPONED.—Owing to the impossibility of completing her cargo yesterday, the sailing of the steamship Montana was postponed till 10 o'clock A. M. to-day.

GOING EAST.—We learn that Mr. Wm. Currier will start by the steamer to-day for New York, to purchase an immense stock of goods for this market.

The regular auction sale of groceries and dry goods by Falk & Kremmer, corner of Front and Washington streets, will take place this morning at 10 o'clock. Special sale to-morrow.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the human race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

Just Cause for being Alarmed.—When a Cough has been running for a long time, and you begin to feel a pain settling in upon your lungs, attended with tightness across the chest, it is high time that you should awaken to the danger of your disease, which is fast running into Consumption. Now, before it is too late, use ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, which will cure the dis..., and all will be well with you. For sale by the Dealers in Family Medicines generally.

Horace Greeley's Debut.

The following account of Horace Greeley's first appearance in New York is from his autobiography, now being published in the New York Ledger, under the title of "Recollections of a Busy Life:"

MY FIRST EXPERIENCE IN NEW YORK.

Reaching Schenectady from Buffalo by line-boat—my sixth and last journey on the "raging canal"—I debarked about 6 P. M. and took the turnpike for Albany. I think a railroad between the two cities first and last named was completed soon afterwards; but not a mile of iron track was then in operation in the State, if (in fact) anywhere in America, save the little affair constructed to freight granite from the quarry at Quincy, Massachusetts, to Boston. Night fell when I was about half-way over, so I sought rest in one of the many taverns that lined the turnpike in question and was directed to sleep in an ante-room through which people were momentarily passing. I declined, and, gathering up my handful of portables, walked on. Half a mile further I found another tavern, not quite so inhospitable, and managed to stay in it till morning, when I arose and walked on to Albany. Having never been in that city before I missed the nearest way to the day-boat, and when I reached the landing it was two or three lengths on its way to New York, having left at seven A. M. I had no choice but wait for another, which started at ten A. M., towing a barge on either side, and reached next day the Emporium, where I, after a good view of the city as we passed it down the river, was landed near Whitehall at six A. M.

New York was then about her present size; but her business was not one-fourth as good as now; and her real size, counting her suburbs, and—considering the tens of thousands who find employment in and earn subsistence here, though sleeping outside her chartered limits—was not one-fifth that of 1867. No single railroad pointed toward her wharves. No line of ocean steamers brought passengers to her hotels, or goods to her wares from any foreign port. In the mercantile world her relative rank was higher, but her absolute importance was scarcely greater than that of Rio Janeiro or San Francisco is to-day. Still to my eyes, which had never till yesterday gazed on a city of even 20,000 inhabitants, nor seen a sea-going vessel, her miles square of mainly brick or stone houses, and her furlongs of masts and yards afforded ample incitement to a wonder and admiration not unlike awe.

It was, if I recollect aright, the 17th of August, 1831. I was twenty years old the preceding February; tall, slender, pale and plain, with ten dollars in my pockets, summer clothing worth, perhaps, as much more on my back, and a decent knowledge of so much of the art of printing as a boy will usually learn in the office of a country newspaper. But I knew no human being within two hundred miles, and my unmistakably rustic manner and address did not favor that immediate command of remunerative employment which was my most urgent need.

However, the world was all before me, my personals tied up in a pocket handkerchief, did not at all encumber me; and I stepped lightly off the boat and away from the sound of the detested hiss of the escaping steam, walked into and up Broad street in quest of a boarding-house. I found and entered one at or near the corner of Wall; but the price of board given me was six dollars per week, so I did heed the giver's candidly kind suggestion that I would probably prefer one where the charges were more moderate. Wandering thence; I cannot say how, to the North River side, I halted next at 168 West street where the sign of "Boarding" on a humbler [illegible] met my attention. I entered and was offered subsistence at $2 50 per week, which I [illegible] more rational, and I closed the bargain.

My host was Mr. Edward McGlorick; his place quite as much grog shop as boarding house; but it was quietly kept while I stayed in it, and he and his family were kind and friendly. I regret to add that liquor proved his ruin not many years afterward. My first day in New York was a Friday and the family being Roman Catholic, no meat was eaten or provided; which I understood; but when Sunday evening was celebrated by unlimited card playing in that same house, my tradition[s] were jarred. I do not imply that my obe[isances] were better or worse than my host's but were widely different.

Having breakfasted, I began to reconnoitre the city for work, and, in my total ignorance, traversed many streets where none could possibly be found. In the course of that day and the next, however, I must have visited fully two-thirds of the printing offices on Manhattan Island without a gleam of success. It was midsummer when business in New York is habitually dull; and my youth and unquestionable air of country greenness must have told against me. When I called at the Journal of Commerce, its editor, Mr. David Hale, bluntly told me I was a runaway apprentice from some country office, which was a very natural though mistaken presumption. I returned to my lodging on Saturday evening, thoroughly weary, [illegible] disgusted with New York, and resolved to shake its dust from my feet next morning, while I could still leave with money in my pocket, and before its almshouse could foreclose [illegible].

But that was not to be. On Sunday afternoon and evening several young Irishmen called at Mr. McGlorick's in the holiday saunterings about town, and being told that I was a young printer in quest of work, interested themselves in my effort, with the [illegible] of their race. One among them happened to know a place where a printer was wanted, and gave me the requisite directions, so that on visiting the designated spot next morning I found readily employment; and I [had] barely three days a resident, I found [illegible] in New York.

The printing establishment was John T. West's, in McElrath & Bang's publishing house, No. 85 Chatham street, and the work was at my call, simply because no printer who knew the city would take it. It was the composition of a very small (32 mo) New Testament, in double columns of agate type each column barely twelve ems wide; the text thickly studded with references by Greek and superior letters to the notes, which of course were preceded and discriminated by corresponding indices, with prefatory and explanatory remarks on each book, set in pearl, and only paid for as agate. The type was considerably smaller than any to which I had been accustomed; the narrow measure and thickly-sown italic of the text, with the strange characters employed as indices, rendered it the slowest and by far the most difficult work I had ever undertaken, while making up, proving, and correcting twice and even three times over, preparatory to stereotyping, nearly doubled the time required for ordinary composition. I never was a swift type setter. I aimed to be an arduous and correct one; but my proof on this work at first looked as though they had caught the chicken pox and were in the worst stage of profuse eruption. For the first two or three weeks, being sometimes kept waiting letter, I scarcely made my board, while by diligent type sticking through twelve to fourteen hours per day I was able at my best, to earn but a dollar per day. As scarcely another compositor could be induced to work on it for more than two days, I had this job in good part to myself and persevered to the end of it.

I had removed very soon after obtaining it to Mrs. Mason's shoemaker boarding house, at the corner of Chatham and Duane streets, nearly opposite my work, so that I was enabled to keep doing nearly all the time that I did not need for meals and sleep. When it was done I was out of work for a fortnight, in spite of my best efforts to obtain more; so I attended as an unknown spectator, the sittings of the Tariff Convention, which was held at the American Institute, north end of the City Hall Park, and presided over by Hon. William Wilkins, of Pittsburg, Pa. I next found work in Ann street, on a short lived monthly, where my pay was not forthcoming; and the next month found me back at West's, where a new work—a commentary on the book of Genesis, by Rev. Geo. Bush—had come in, and I worked on it throughout. The chirography was blind; the author made many vexatious alterations in proof; the page was small and the type close; but though the reverse of fat, in printer's jargon it was not nearly so abominably lean as the Testament; and I regretted to reach the end of it. When I did, I was again out of work.

WHY COPPERHEADS GROAN.—That Copperheads and rebels should hate the national debt, and seek to swindle the public creditors, we can fully understand. That debt is a necessary and onerous result of the slaveholders' rebellion. It symbolizes the efforts and sacrifices whereby our national existence was preserved. Whenever a poor man buys food or clothing for his family, he is compelled to pay some share of his hard earnings to defray the inevitable cost of raising the national flag over the forts, arsenals, armories, etc., whence the rebels had torn it down and trampled it in the mire. If the Government could not have borrowed enormous sums, the rebellion must have succeeded and become a revolution. Of course, whoever wishes it had succeeded, whether in dividing our country, or in "reconstructing" it on the basis of slavery everywhere and always, hates the debt, libels its holders, and will swindle them if he can.—N. Y. Tribune.

Somebody with a good deal of spare time has been talking with ex-President Buchanan about the situation. Mr. Buchanan declares that "the policies and actions of parties have got beyond his comprehension," and he "can't imagine what the result will be." Mr. Buchanan has been suffering under this complaint for the last twelve or fifteen years.

Expensive Matrimony.

Marriage is in a fair way, just now, to become a standard topic for newspaper treatment. Half the editors in this land of critics are most gravely discussing the difficulties that are accumulating in the path leading to the bridal altar. We are glad to see the interest that is taken in the matter; but we are not quite sure that the subject is properly handled. The most of our editorial brethren are disposed to lay the blame on the extravagance of the age, and particularly on the expensive habits of our ladies. The burden of complaint is everywhere the same. Editors from Maine to New Orleans, discoursing on this topic, write alike; and the same fact, namely, the excessive costliness of women, points the argument. If this is a true statement of the question we have not much to apprehend, as the evil will probably cure itself. Women will not be likely to risk their chances of marriage for the sake of indulging in extra show. The truth is, however, that the extravagance of the day is affecting the habits of our men more powerfully than those of our women. Luxury and fashion are costly things for both sexes. A woman's follies in the expenditure of money usually appear on her person and in some of her surroundings; but a man's follies are none the less dear because they are confined to the club-house or known only to his intimate friends. If, then, so many women are putting themselves out of the reach of matrimony by their high notions of style, it is not equally certain that just as many men—perhaps more—are voluntarily placing themselves in the same position by lavishing thousands per annum on their own precious selves?

The decrease of marriages in this country is obviously among our most prosperous classes, and it is comparatively limited to those sections which are accumulating wealth most rapidly. Men and women in these classes and sections are alike enriched by the growing fortunes of business and speculation. Sons and daughters share in the father's gains. How, then, can the evil bear on one sex to the exclusion of the other? Observation has long since taught us, that whenever families grow rich the sons are more extravagant than the daughters—they demand more money—they waste more money, simply because the ways and facilities for wasting it are much more numerous and accessible. The main reason, therefore, why the number of marriages in this class of our population is declining is because the men choose to have it so, and not because the women are beyond their capacity to support. Three-fourths of the bachelors of our acquaintance are rich enough to bear the expense even of the most fashionable women; what is equally certain, they are bachelors just because they are rich. Wealth often indisposes men to marry, but it rarely has this effect on women. At the period of life when marriage begins to charm the fancy our fast young men are preoccupied. They have already in most cases, surrendered their souls to other capture. Dissipation and licentiousness have utterly unfitted them for poetry and they vastly prefer a midnight debauch to the pleasure and the companionship of a devoted wife. Talk as we may, then, of the extravagance of the age, it is corrupting our men far more than our women; and it does this, not only by its direct consequences, but by fostering a cold, callous, vicious heartedness, which makes matrimony too much of a conscience and a restraint on their unbridled passions.

Men soon out live the sentiment of marriage. Nature provides for its early development and rapid growth. If between eighteen and twenty-five years of age young men are absorbed with their gratifications—or, if they are moral and have the exalt[ed] [intent] of fortune in possession, or prospect—it commonly happens that marriage is less attractive than it otherwise proves. It is not felt as a present want of their whole being; and as marriage with men usually turns on thoughts and sentiments belonging to one given period of life, and not, as with women, by a sort of prophetic anticipation of what their nature will need for maturity and old age, the loss of youthful impressions is rarely recovered. There have always been dissipated, licentious men. The fast age is as old as the world so far as Smith or Jones has rioted in sensualism. But this fast age cannot wait on advancing life as its predecessors did. It forestalls hope and heart. It is intensely eager for young blood and fresh souls. Premature sots, gamblers, rakes abound. Now, it is just here that the source of the decrease in marriages is to be found. Vice plucks out the hearts of hundreds of our young men, plucks them out by the roots—and leaves them no soul to admire and love a virtuous woman.

Marriage is God's law, and men are not to set it aside. In relation to his providential, earthly government, it holds a position somewhat analogous to religion in his moral and spiritual government. All civilized society is bound not only to recognize sanctity, but to encourage the extension of its ties and the operation of its restraints over the largest possible number. The worst feature of the extravagance of the age is its influence on domestic character; but let it be remembered that there is no sort of parallelism in its effect on the two sexes, for where one young lady is spoiled by it five young men are ruined.—Harper's Bazar.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE-NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows:

It originated in Prussia, where the science of Medicine is so thoroughly taught and practiced, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintance, in which, however, it proved itself absolutely infallible in eradicating disease from the eye.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his discovery with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide-spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, seemed only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors.

The present proprietor was one of those neighbors, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely disseminate the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the possessor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet lay claim to a desire to benefit his fellows by presenting to them a remedy which does and will cure where medical science and all experience have failed.

He wishes it to be understood that it will cure all diseases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; but its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to old Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, and so confident is he of its success that he instructs all his agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, evidence of which fact is furnished in the testimony of the following persons, living at and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without effect.

Mrs. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. For one year they were so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. M. MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Baber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years.

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes—a bad case—for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPEY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. R. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with diseased eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg.

CARD.

DR. BARLOW J. SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

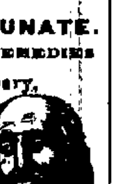

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco, Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, so that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Weakness, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a sure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, attended with an undue secretion, such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injurious or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with, a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian

REDINGTON & CO'S
ESSENCE OF JAMAICA GINGER

This valuable preparation, containing, in a highly concentrated form, all the properties of the Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise, for, while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea sickness, or other causes. It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.

Sold by Druggists everywhere, and at wholesale by REDINGTON & CO., Agents for the Pacific Coast, San Francisco.
